GAME REPORT

Kashiwa Reysol earned a 2–1 victory over PVF Academy in their U-17 Alkass International Cup encounter, with first-half goals from No.7 Yumeto Kikuchi and No.10 Riku Inada proving decisive despite a strong second-half response from the Vietnamese side. # Exclusive Interview

Ali Al-Muftah - TOURNAMENT DIRECTOR

How would you describe the overall preparations for this season's U17 tournament?

The tournament has a strong reputation and includes some of the best teams. Even though we started preparations later, we worked as quickly as possible to get ready. We were able to invite and include several of the best teams globally. For example, we have a Vietnamese team participating for the first time. Honestly, we invited the most important and prominent teams in the world and here we have teams like PSG and FC Barcelona.

What are your main goals or expectations for this competition this year?

We have several goals: on the sporting side, we want our team to learn from facing these high-level teams. We also aim to gain more Qatari experience in organizing international tournaments. From a media perspective, we want this event to be recognized as a global tournament with international visibility one day.

How important is it for youth teams like Barcelona U17 and PSG U17 to participate in a tournament like this?

French and Spanish clubs come from some of the best youth academy systems in the world, so their participation is extremely valuable. We also see teams from Japan and Morocco, which is creating some of the best players around the world. All teams have really been performing very creatively and impressively.

Is there any plan to increase awareness about this tournament?

The tournament still needs more fan attendance, but the passion is there. If we had started preparations earlier, we could have done more campaigns to attract larger crowds. Factors like school schedules, breaks, and many other events happening in Qatar have affected attendance as well, but we are hoping we can build more awareness about this tournament.
